

San Francisco Public Library

ANNUAL REPORT

by the Numbers · 2014 – 2015

PREMIER URBAN LIBRARY

San Francisco Public Libraries are more popular than ever, inclusive destinations for people of all ages and backgrounds, with welcoming and friendly libraries that are fully accessible to all in every neighborhood. Library services, programs and collections reflect our diverse community.

REINVESTING AND RENEWAL

With the completion of the Branch Library Improvement Program, a San Francisco Controller's Office study found that for every $1 invested,

SF realized a return on investment between $5.19 to $9.11

The capital investments and additional operating spending associated with BLIP contributed more than in indirect and induced benefits to the San Francisco economy.

$330m

"While the focus of the BLIP program was to ensure seismic safety and full accessibility, the 24 completed library projects have gone so much further to bridge the technology divide; create safe and welcoming spaces for children, teens, and community; and offer educational opportunities that enable all our residents to succeed in the 21st Century economy. Our civic efforts have provided needed resources so our residents, our youth, our families and our seniors can all share in our City's prosperity."

Mayor Ed Lee

"Alfred Hitchcock would have been a fan—because the library is clearly a fan of his. Five or so movies by the great film master, especially the one you had not finished watching but had expired on Amazon prime. All the DVDs and books have a three week borrowing period. You did not know that. You never went to a library before this."

PARTNERSHIPS FOR EXCELLENCE

Programming and outreach is key to making library resources available to all. Partnering with other organizations leverages the Library's resources to strengthen the services and programs offered and helps the Library reach a larger audience.

- Friends of San Francisco Public Library raises funds to enhance and support library innovations and ongoing programs.
- Council of Neighborhood Libraries serves as a liaison between branch libraries, library administration and the community.
- SFUSD Partnership for Achievement
- Working with other City Departments enables the Library to offer special services and enhanced production. Key partners include (partial list):
  - SF Public Works
  - Department of the Environment
  - San Francisco Police Department
  - Recreation and Parks
  - Mayor and Board of Supervisors
- Other agencies and non-profits work collaboratively and help the Library fulfill its mission (Partial list):
  - Writers Corps and Youth Works
  - Early Literacy Network
